

| LUNG CHANNEL OF HAND TAI YIN                                        |                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Name                                                                | Association/Precautions                                                                                                                     | Location/Needling Method                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Functions & Actions                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Indications/Notes                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| LU-1*Zhong Fu中府Central Treasury    | Front Mu PointMoxibustion ApplicableNever puncture deeply towards medial aspect. (Pneumothorax danger) | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Latero-superior to the sternum, 1 cun below Yunmen (LU-2), at the level of the first intercostal space, 6 cun lateral to the anterior midline</li> </ul> Needling Method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Obliquely 0.5-0.8 inch toward lateral aspect of chest</li> </ul>                                                    | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Disseminates &amp; Descends Lung Qi</li> <li>Alleviates cough and wheezing</li> <li>Transforms phlegm</li> <li>Clears heat</li> <li>Regulates the water passages</li> <li>Descends Stomach Q</li> </ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Cough, asthma, pain in the chest, shoulder and back, fullness in the chest</li> <li>As the entry point of the Lung Channel and the meeting point with the Spleen channel, LU-01 (Zhong Fu) is where the Ying Qi begins its cycle throughout the channels.</li> <li>Lung Front MU Point - useful for all LU Issues, especially of Excess Type - cough, wheezing, asthma.</li> <li>LU disharmonies involving Phlegm/Heat excess arising from the middle warmer - vomiting, difficult ingestion</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| LU-2Yun Men雲門Cloud Gate            | Local PointMoxibustion ApplicableNever puncture deeply towards medial aspect. (Pneumothorax danger)    | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>In the superior lateral part of the anterior thoracic wall, superior to the coracoid process of scapula, in the depression of the infra-clavicular fossa, 6 cun lateral to the anterior midline.</li> </ul> Needling Method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Obliquely 0.5-0.8 inch toward lateral aspect of chest</li> </ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Clears Lung heat</li> <li>Disseminates &amp; Descends Lung Qi</li> <li>Dispels anxiety and agitation</li> <li>Drains heat in the joints</li> </ul>                                                      | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Cough, asthma, wheezing, shortness of breath, dyspnea</li> <li>Fullness and pain in the chest</li> <li>Heat in the chest</li> <li>Pain and inflammation in the shoulder and back</li> <li>Similar to LU 1 but used more often as a local shoulder point.</li> <li>Cough, asthma, tension in the chest.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| LU-3*Tian Fu天府Celestial Storehouse | Window of Sky PointSome Say No Moxa                                                                                   | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>On the medial (anterior) aspect of the upper arm</li> <li>3 cun below end of axillary fold</li> <li>On the radial side of m. biceps brachii</li> </ul> Needling Method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Perpendicular 0.5-1.0 inch</li> </ul>                                                                                 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Clears Lung heat &amp; descends Lung Qi</li> <li>Cools blood and stops bleeding</li> <li>Calms the corporeal soul (Po)</li> </ul>                                                                       | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Asthma, wheezing, and cough</li> <li>Hemoptysis, epistaxis, and thirst</li> <li>Pain in medial aspect of upper arm</li> <li>Window of the Sky Point: regulates head/body Qi flow → goiters, swellings in the neck.</li> <li>Lung related spirit disharmonies - stress induced asthma, poor memory, fuzzy/muddled thinking, depression, "floating corpse ghost talk", "melancholy crying ghost talk" (classical descriptions possibly for seeing ghost, talking about ghosts a/or people who have died, being in constant long-term grief about someone who has passed, etc.).</li> <li>LV invading the LU pathologies.</li> <li>Generally for heat related issues whether from excess or deficiency - nosebleed, coughing blood</li> </ul> |
| LU-4Xia Bai俠白Guarding White        | Local PointMoxibustion Applicable                                                                                     | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>On medial aspect of upper arm</li> <li>4 cun below the anterior end of the axillary fold</li> <li>Or 5 cun above the cubital crease,</li> <li>On the radial side of m. biceps brachii.</li> </ul> Needling Method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Perpendicular 0.5-1.0 inch</li> </ul>                                      | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Descends Lung Qi</li> <li>Regulates Qi and blood in the chest</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Cough, fullness in the chest</li> <li>Pain in medial aspect of the upper arm</li> <li>May be used for cough, shortness of breath, chest pain, heart pain</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| LU-5*Chi Ze尺澤Cubit Marsh           | He Sea PointWater PointSome Say No Moxa                                                                    | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>On cubital crease</li> <li>In depression on radial side of biceps brachii tendon</li> <li>Located with elbow slightly flexed</li> </ul> Needling Method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Perpendicular 0.5-1.0 inch</li> </ul>                                                                                                | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Clears heat from Lung</li> <li>Descends rebellious Qi</li> <li>Regulates the water passages</li> <li>Activates the channel</li> <li>Relaxes the sinews</li> <li>Alleviates pain</li> </ul>              | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Cough, hemoptysis, asthma, sore throat, upper body edema</li> <li>Afternoon fever, enuresis</li> <li>Fullness in the chest, infantile convulsions, mastitis</li> <li>He Sea Point: Useful for counterflow Qi, diarrhea, hot skin conditions, phlegm-heat excess</li> <li>Acute/chronic or Exterior/Interior Conditions</li> <li>Local point for elbow: tendinitis, tennis elbow, spasmodic pain of the elbow and arm</li> <li>Classically noted for 5 types of Lumbar Pain, possibly upper body equivalent of UB-40</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

| LUNG CHANNEL OF HAND TAI YIN                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Name                                                            | Association/Precautions                                                                                                                                                                                              | Location/Needling Method                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | Functions & Actions                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Indications/Notes                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| LU-6Kong Zui孔最Collection Hole  | Xi Cleft PointMoxibustion applicable                                                                                                                                                           | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>On palmar aspect of forearm</li> <li>On the line joining LU-9 &amp; LU-5</li> <li>7 cun above the transverse crease of the wrist</li> </ul> Needling Method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Perpendicular 0.5-1.0 inch</li> </ul>                                                             | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Disseminates &amp; descends Lung Qi</li> <li>Clears heat and moistens the Lung</li> <li>Clears heat and stops bleeding</li> <li>Moderates acute conditions</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                         | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Cough, pain in the chest, asthma, hemoptysis, sore throat, spasmodic pain of the elbow and arm</li> <li>Xi Cleft Point: for Acute attacks of EPI's, usually wind-heat or wind-dry - cough, wheezing, asthma, sore throat.</li> <li>Dry hacking cough, especially at night.</li> <li>Local point for pain along the meridian, especially at the joints</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                 |
| LU-7Lie Que列缺Broken Sequence | Luo Connecting Point• Large Intestine (LI-4)Command Point of Head &amp; Posterior NeckMaster (Confluent) Point of Ren [Coupled w/KD 6]Moxibustion applicable | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Superior to styloid process of radius</li> <li>1.5 cun above transverse crease btwn brachioradial muscle &amp; tendon of long abductor muscle of thumb</li> <li>(Not on LU-5 → LU-9 line)</li> </ul> Needling Method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Oblique 0.3-0.5 inches upward</li> </ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Releases exterior</li> <li>Expels wind (virus, pollen) → causes sweat</li> <li>Promotes descending function of lung</li> <li>Pacifies wind &amp; phlegm</li> <li>Benefits head &amp; nape</li> <li>Opens &amp; regulates conception vessel</li> <li>Regulates water passages &amp; lymph</li> <li>Activates channel</li> <li>Alleviates pain (esp. wrist injuries)</li> </ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Headache, migraine, neck rigidity</li> <li>Cough, asthma, sore throat</li> <li>Facial Paralysis, toothache</li> <li>Pain &amp; weakness of wrist</li> <li>Exterior wind (body aches, Chills/fever, runny nose, scratchy throat, sneezing)</li> <li>Internal wind (Bell's palsy, twitching spasms, lockjaw,</li> <li>Ren Master Point: Treats genitourinary &amp; gynecological issues &amp; yin deficient sore throat.</li> <li>Thumb pain: Luo Connection Point → Spreads over thenar eminence</li> </ul>              |
| LU-8Jing Qu經渠Channel Ditch     | Jing River PointMetal PointMoxibustion applicable                                                                                                                                   | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1 cun above the transverse crease of the wrist</li> <li>In the depression on the lateral side of the radial artery</li> </ul> Needling Method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Perpendicular 0.1-0.3 inch</li> </ul>                                                                           | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Descends Lung Qi</li> <li>alleviates cough and wheezing</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Cough, asthma, fever, pain in the chest, sore throat, pain in the wrist</li> <li>Not as broad as an effect as LU 7, but useful for expelling wind, tonifying Qi and Yin.</li> <li>Pain in the area of KD 1 → plantar fasciitis</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| LU-9Tai Yuan太淵Great Abyss    | Shu Stream PointEarth PointYuan Source PointHui Meeting Point of the VesselsMoxibustion applicableAvoid Radial Artery                              | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>At the radial end of the transverse crease of the wrist, in the depression on the lateral side of the radial artery</li> </ul> Needling Method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Perpendicular 0.2-0.3 inches</li> </ul>                                                                        | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Tonifies Lung &amp; transforms phlegm</li> <li>Promotes the descending function of the Lung</li> <li>Regulates and harmonizes the one hundred vessels</li> <li>Activates the channel and alleviates pain</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                           | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Chronic Weak Cough, wheezing, asthma, hemoptysis, sore throat, palpitation, pain in the chest, wrist and arm</li> <li>As this is the Earth (Mother) point on the Metal Channel, it is the primary point on the Lung channel to treat Lung deficiency by tonifying the Lung Qi and Yin.</li> <li>Tonify LU Qi and Yin: cough, asthma, wheezing, SOB, chronic runny nose w/watery discharge.</li> <li>Hui Meeting Point of the Vessels: circulation issues, clarifying an indiscernible pulse (for diagnosis).</li> </ul> |
| LU-10*Yu Ji魚際Fish Border       | Ying Spring PointFire PointMoxibustion applicable                                                                                                                                   | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>On the radial aspect of the midpoint of the first metacarpal bone, on the junction of the red and white skin (i.e., the junction of the dorsum and palm of the hand).</li> </ul> Needling Method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Perpendicular 0.5-0.8 inches</li> </ul>                      | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Benefits the throat</li> <li>Clears Lung heat</li> <li>Descends rebellious Qi</li> <li>Harmonizes the Stomach and Heart</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Cough, hemoptysis, sore throat, loss of voice, fever, feverish sensation in the palm</li> <li>To clear heat, acute sore throat</li> <li>Clear Excess or Deficiency Heat from the LU Channel and Organ.</li> <li>Sore throat w/excess heat.</li> <li>Reckless bleeding from heat</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| LU-11*Shao Shang少商Lesser Shang | Jing Well PointWood PointSome Say No Moxa                                                                                                                                           | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>On the radial side of the thumb, about 0.1 cun posterior to the corner of the nail</li> </ul> Needling Method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Perpendicular 0.1 inches</li> <li>Or prick to bleed</li> </ul>                                                                                  | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Revives consciousness</li> <li>Clears heat and benefits the throat</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Sore throat, cough, asthma, epistaxis, fever, loss of consciousness, mania, spasmodic pain of the thumb</li> <li>Extreme sore throat (may bleed point to reduce heat).</li> <li>Tonsillitis</li> <li>Revival point especially from wind-stroke</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

