

DU CHANNEL (GOVERNING VESSEL)
Name	Association/Precautions	Location/Needling Method	Functions & Actions	Indications/Notes
DU-1* Chang Qiang 長強 Long Strong	Luo Connecting Point Intersection Point REN, KD, GB Moxibustion Applicable	- Midway between the tip of the coccyx and the anus, locating the point in prone position Needling Method: - Perpendicular 0.5-1.0 inch	- Treats hemorrhoids - Benefits the two lower yin - Activates the channel and alleviates pain - Calms the spirit	- Diarrhea, bloody stools, hemorrhoids, prolapse of the rectum, constipation, pain in the lower back, epilepsy - Main point for hemorrhoids from excess or deficiency, anal prolapse, anal fissure; other hemorrhoid points: UB 25, UB 30, UB 32, UB 35, UB 57, Erbai. - Important point for genitourinary disorders, for the five types of painful urinary disorder (Five Lin), urinary retention, sexual exhaustion, impotence, seminal emission. - Main point for disorders of the coccyx. Injuries to the coccyx will generally cause the tip of the coccyx to point more ventrally, to deviate to one side, or both, affecting the energetics of the spine and the whole body
DU-2 Yao Shu 腰俞 Lumbar Shu	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	- In the sacral hiatus Needling Method: - Obliquely upward 0.5-1.0 inch	- Benefits the lumbar region & legs - Dispels wind-damp	- Irregular menstruation, pain and stiffness of the lower back, hemorrhoids, muscular atrophy of the lower extremities, epilepsy - May be used instead of DU 1 for anal issues. - Warming point, for cold in the lower warmer, amenorrhea or uterine bleeding from deficiency, weakness or atrophy of the lower limbs, seminal emission, impotence, diarrhea. - coccyx pain with difficulty sitting or pain at the opposite end of the channel, posterior neck pain, occipital or frontal headache
DU-3 Yao Yang Guan 腰陽關 Lumbar Yang Pass	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	- Below the spinous process of the 4th lumbar vertebra (Level with the iliac crest) Needling Method: - Perpendicular 0.5-1.0 inch	- Dispels wind-damp - Benefits the lumbar region and legs - Regulates the lower jiao	- Irregular menstruation, nocturnal emission, impotence, pain in the lumbosacral region, muscular atrophy, motor impairment, numbness and pain of the lower extremities - Warming point for cold or cold damp in the lower warmer, often treated with moxa for low back pain from deficiency, women's discharges due to cold, dysmenorrhea, incontinence, colities, edema, pain or weakness of lower limb or knee. - Name is "lumbar gate" or "lumbar hinge," at this point the low back bends in flexion, treat for pain when bending forward. - Differentiation: DU 3 is a more local point whereas DU 4 is for back pain resulting from yang deficiency

Name	Association/Precautions	Location/Needling Method	Functions & Actions	Indications/Notes
DU-4 Ming Men 命門 Life Gate	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	- Below the spinous process of the 2nd lumbar vertebra Needling Method: - Perpendicular 0.5-1.0 inch	- Clears heat - Regulates the Governing vessel* - Tonifies the Kidneys* - Benefits the lumbar spine	- Stiffness of the back, lumbago, impotence, nocturnal emission, irregular menstruation, diarrhea, indigestion, leucorrhea - Clears heat from the whole body, for heat disorders of the five zang, malarial disorders, steaming bone disease (a feeling of heat very deep in the body (KI Yin Deficiency)). - Main point for tonifying Kidney qi and yang*: low back pain, weak knees, copious nocturnal urination, impotence, seminal emissions, deficient cold menstrual disorders, dysmenorrhea, cold-type vaginal discharge, daybreak diarrhea (5 a.m.). Works well with ginger moxa. Adrenal exhaustion* from stress or overwork, fatigue, lack of sexual vitality or sexual exhaustion
DU-5 Xuan Shu 懸樞 Suspended Pivot	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	- Below the spinous process of the 1st lumbar vertebra Needling Method: - Perpendicular 0.5-1.0 inch	- Benefits the lumbar spine - Benefits the lower jiao	- Pain and stiffness in the lower back - Diarrhea, indigestion
DU-6 Ji Zhong 脊中 Spinal Center	Local Point No Moxibustion	- Below the spinous process of the 12th thoracic vertebra Needling Method: - Perpendicular 0.5-1.0 inch	- Fortifies the Spleen - Drains damp - Benefits the spine	- Pain in the epigastric region, diarrhea, jaundice, epilepsy, stiffness and pain of the back - General and Local spine problems. - Adjusts the Spleen, reinforces UB 20, for loss of appetite, abdominal pain and fullness, diarrhea, hemorrhoids
DU-7 Zhong Shu 中樞 Central Pivot	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	- Below the spinous process of the 10th thoracic vertebra Needling Method: - Perpendicular 0.5-1.0 inch	- Benefits the spine - Benefits the middle jiao	- Pain in the epigastric region, low back pain, stiffness of the back - Local point for back pain. - Reinforce UB 19 Gallbladder Shu
DU-8* Jin Suo 筋縮 Sinew Contraction	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	- Below the spinous process of the 9th thoracic vertebra Needling Method: - Perpendicular 0.5-1.0 inch	- Soothes the Liver* - Pacifies wind and relieves spasm* - Calms the spirit*	- Epilepsy, stiffness of the back - Gastric pain - Reinforces Liver Back-shu (UB 18), special point for spasms in the sinews, general muscles tightness and contraction, spine stiffness, combine with GB 34, Huatuojiaji of T9-T10, UB 18, LV 3, LV 8, LV 14. - Stress, irritability, repressed anger. - Sometimes used for epigastric and cardiac pain
DU-9* Zhi Yang 至陽 Extremity of Yang	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	- Below the spinous process of the 7th thoracic vertebra - Approximately level with inferior angle of the scapula Needling Method: - Obliquely upward 0.5-1.0 inch	- Fortifies the Spleen, drains dampness and regulates the middle jiao - Treats jaundice* - Unbinds the chest*	- Jaundice, cough, asthma, stiffness of the back, pain in the chest and back - Important point for mid-thoracic pain, chest and flank pain radiating from the back. - Asthma, cough, difficulty speaking due to shortness of breath, opens chest and relaxes diaphragm. Combine with UB 17 and Huatuo of T7. - Important point for LV/GB disharmony, especially involving damp heat, for hepatitis, jaundice, cholecystitis

Name	Association/Precautions	Location/Needling Method	Functions & Actions	Indications/Notes
DU-10* Ling Tai 靈台 Spirit Tower	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	- Below the spinous process of the 6th thoracic vertebra Needling Method: - Obliquely upward 0.5-1.0 inch	- Alleviates cough and wheezing - Clears heat and detoxifies poison*	- Cough, asthma, furuncles, back pain, neck rigidity - Clears Blood heat and infectious toxicity, for carbuncles, furuncles, boils, abscesses anywhere on the body but especially on the upper back, neck and face. - Empirical point for acne
DU-11* Shen Dao 神道 Spirit Path	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	- Below the spinous process of the 5th thoracic vertebra Needling Method: - Obliquely upward 0.5-1.0 inch	- Tonifies the Heart and Lung* - Calms the spirit - Clears heat and pacifies wind	- Important point for spirit problems, palpitations, anxiety, poor memory, muddled thinking, absent-mindedness, insomnia, has strong effect on mind and mood. Combine with HTJ (T5) and UB15 for stress. - Differentiation: - DU 11: mostly for HT & LU deficiency - DU 12: more for excess of HT & LU
DU-12 Shen Zhu 身柱 Body Pillar	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	- Below the spinous process of the 3rd thoracic vertebra Needling Method: - Obliquely upward 0.5-1.0 inch	- Clears heat from the Lung and Heart - Calms the spirit - Pacifies wind	- Cough, asthma, epilepsy, pain and stiffness of the back, furuncles - Heat in the lungs and chest, cough, asthma, chest pain, mentioned classically for whooping cough (use cupping). - Supporting point for chronic conditions affecting the lungs, for deficiency asthma, exhaustion from deficient Lung qi. - Used for strengthening deficiencies and promoting strong development in children
DU-13 Tao Dao 陶道 Kiln Path	Intersection Point • UB Moxibustion Applicable	- Below the spinous process of the 1st thoracic vertebra Needling Method: - Obliquely upward 0.5-1.0 inch	- Clears heat and treats malaria - Regulates the Governing vessel	- Stiffness of the back, headache, malaria, febrile diseases - For steaming bone disorder or inflammatory diseases affecting bones. - Important point for malaria
DU-14 Da Zhui 大椎 Great Hammer	Intersection Point • All Yang Meridians Sea of Qi Point • REN-17, ST-9, DU-15 Moxibustion Applicable	- Below the spinous process of the 7th cervical vertebra - Approximately level with shoulders Needling Method: - Obliquely upward 0.5-1.0 inch	- Expels wind heat - Firms the exterior - Clears heat* - Treats malaria - Tonifies deficiency* - Pacifies wind*	- Neck pain and rigidity, malaria, febrile diseases, epilepsy, afternoon fever, cough, asthma, common cold, back stiffness - Meeting point of all yang meridians: indicated for exterior conditions → expels pathogens and firms the yang; clears heat and fevers (mild or severe), tonifies yang and strengthens the neck and spine. - Main Point for: - Acute wind cold/heat, colds and flu, especially with fever and chills → opens the pores to cause sweating. Patient with underlying deficiency has chills & no fever → use moxa. - Reducing high fevers, combine with LU 11, UB 40 (can bleed these points). Main point for summer heat. - Spontaneous sweating (qi xu) or night sweats (yin xu) - Neck & upper back pain/stiffness: Combine with GB 20, UB 10, UB 11, UB 12, Bai Lao, SI 12, SI 13. Tissue is often thick here → insert slowly, use mild manipulation, then redirect needle towards each shoulder using oblique insertion. - Strengthens the Wei qi. Wind cold can enter body through triangle formed by DU 14 and UB 12. Keep this area warm, supple and flexible with needle, moxa, & massage to promote longevity

Name	Association/Precautions	Location/Needling Method	Functions & Actions	Indications/Notes
DU-15* Ya Men 啞門 Mute's Gate	Window of Sky Point Sea of Qi Point (w/ REN 17, ST 9, DU 14) Intersection point • Yang Wei (Linking) No Moxibustion No Deep Needling No Oblique Upward	0.5 cun directly above midpoint of posterior hairline - In depression below the spinous process of 1st cervical vertebra Needling Method: - Perpendicular 0.5-0.8 inch - Near the medullary bulb in the deep layer → depth and angle of puncture should be paid strict attention	- Benefits the tongue and treats muteness* - Eliminates wind* - Benefits the neck and spine*	- Neck pain and rigidity, malaria, febrile diseases, epilepsy, afternoon fever, cough, asthma, common cold, back stiffness - Opens the orifices, refers to the mouth, throat and tongue, for throat swelling, sudden hoarseness, post-stroke speech disorders, important point for muteness due to tongue stiffness or vocal cord disorders. - Occipital headaches, especially with neck stiffness, upper cervical pain and restricted neck rotation, DU 15 lies over the space between C1 and C2, and can help release the sub-occipital musculature which compresses the atlanto-occipital joint.
DU-16* Feng Fu 風府 Wind Mansion	Window of Sky Point Ghost Point Sea of Marrow Point (w/ DU 20) Intersection point • Yang Wei (Linking) • UB No Moxibustion No Deep Needling No Oblique Upward	1 cun directly above midpoint of posterior hairline - Directly below the external occipital protuberance - In depression between m. trapezius of both sides Needling Method: - Perpendicular 0.5-0.8 inch - Near the medullary bulb in the deep layer → depth and angle of puncture should be paid strict attention	- Eliminates wind (Exterior or Interior)* - Nourishes the sea of marrow* - Benefits the head and neck - Calms the spirit	- Headache, neck rigidity, blurring of vision, epistaxis, sore throat, post-apoplexy aphasia, hemiplegia, mental disorders - Main point for wind (exterior or interior), particularly affecting the head and neck. For wind cold headache, stiff neck, aversion to wind, dizziness, visual dizziness, numbness, twitching, tremors. - Window of the Sky point: promotes communication between the head and body, many indications are consistent with other points of this group, such as headache, dizziness, throat swelling, earache, eye pain, nosebleeds, aphasia
DU-17 Nao Hu 腦戶 Brain's Door	Intersecting point • UB Moxibustion Applicable	2.5 cun directly above midpoint of the posterior hairline 1.5 cun directly above DU-16 - In the depression on the upper border of the external occipital protuberance Needling Method: - Subcutaneous 0.3-0.5 inch	- Eliminates wind and alleviates pain - Benefits the eyes - Calms the spirit	Epilepsy, dizziness, pain and stiffness of the neck
DU-18 Qiang Jian 強間 Unyielding Space	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	4 cun directly above midpoint of posterior hairline 1.5 cun above DU-17 (Midway btwn DU 16 & DU 20) Needling Method: - Subcutaneous 0.3-0.5 inch	- Pacifies wind and alleviates pain - Calms the spirit	- Headache, neck rigidity, blurring of vision, mania - Regulates the liver and calms wind. - Stiff neck, headache. - Visual dizziness. - Epilepsy, Insomnia, Manic Depression
DU-19 Hou Ding 後頂 Behind the Vertex	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	5.5 cun directly above midpoint of the posterior hairline 1.5 cun directly above DU-18 (Midway btwn DU 18 & DU 20) Needling Method: - Subcutaneous 0.3-0.5 inch	- Eliminates wind and alleviates pain - Calms the spirit	Headache, vertigo, mania, epilepsy

DU CHANNEL (GOVERNING VESSEL)
DU-20 Bai Hui 百會 Hundred Convergences	Sea of Marrow Point (w/ DU 16) Intersection point • UB, GB, SJ, LV Moxibustion Applicable	- On the midline of the head 5 cun directly above the midpoint of the anterior hairline - approximately on the midpoint of the line connecting the apexes of both ears Needling Method: - Subcutaneous 0.3-0.5 inch	- Pacifies wind and subdues yang* - Raises yang & counters prolapse* - Benefits head and sense organs* - Nourishes the sea of marrow* - Benefits the brain* - Calms the spirit*	- Headache, vertigo, tinnitus, nasal obstruction, aphasia by apoplexy, coma, mental disorders, prolapse of the rectum and the uterus - Main point for headache, dizziness, eye pain and redness, irritability, hypertension from excess yang in the upper body, often occurring with patterns of excess Liver yang or Liver fire. Combine w/ lower body points (LV 2, LV 3, KD 1, GB 34, GB 41) - Main point for internal wind. Has some overlapping indications with the above entry, for headaches, dizziness, visual dizziness, tinnitus, vertex pain, wind stroke, seizures. - Main point for prolapse: anal, uterine, vaginal; main point for hemorrhoids
DU-21 Qian Ding 前頂 Before the Vertex	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	3.5 cun directly above the midpoint of the anterior hairline 1.5 cun anterior to DU-20 - Midway btwn DU 20 and DU 22 Needling Method: - Subcutaneous 0.3-0.5 inch	- Eliminates wind and treats convulsions - Benefits the head	Epilepsy, dizziness, blurring of vision, vertical headache, rhinorrhea
DU-22 Xin Hui 囟會 Fontanel Meeting	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable No Needle and No Moxa in Infants w/ Metopism (Persistence of frontal suture)	2 cun posterior to the midpoint of the anterior hairline 3 cun anterior to DU-20 Needling Method: - Subcutaneous 0.3-0.5 inch	- Benefits the nose - Eliminates wind - Benefits the head	Headache, blurring of vision, rhinorrhea, infantile convulsion
DU-23* Shang Xing 上星 Upper Star	Ghost Point Moxibustion Applicable No Needle and No Moxa in Infants w/ Metopism (Persistence of frontal suture)	1 cun directly above the midpoint of the anterior hairline Needling Method: - Subcutaneous 0.3-0.5 inch OR - Prick to Bleed	- Benefits the nose and eyes* - Eliminates wind* - Benefits the head and face* - Dispels swelling* - Calms the spirit (Shen)*	- Headache, ophthalmalgia, epistaxis. - Rhinorrhea, mental disorders - Main point for nose problems: nasal congestion, rhinitis, nasal polyps, sinus headache
DU-24 Shen Ting 神庭 Spirit Court	Intersection point • UB, ST Moxibustion Applicable	0.5 cun directly above the midpoint of the anterior hair line Needling Method: - Subcutaneous 0.3-0.5 inch OR - Prick to Bleed	- Benefits the brain - Calms the spirit - Eliminates wind - Benefits the head - Benefits the nose and eyes	- Local point for frontal headache, chronic sinusitis, nosebleeds, excessive tearing. - Differentiation: DU 23 is more for nose problems whereas DU 24 is more for headaches
DU-25 Su Liao 素髒 White Bone Hole	Local Point Moxibustion Applicable	- On the tip of the nose Needling Method: - Subcutaneous 0.3-0.5 inch OR - Prick to Bleed	Benefits the nose	- Loss of consciousness, nasal obstruction, epistaxis, rhinorrhea, rosacea - Important point to restore or help maintain consciousness, for shock, loss of consciousness, to revive from drowning
DU-26* Shui Gou 人中 Water Trough	Ghost Point Intersection point • LI, ST Command Point for Restoring Consciousness Some Say No Moxa	- At the junction of the upper and middle third of the philtrum Needling Method: - Obliquely upward 0.3-0.5 inch	- Restores consciousness - Calms the spirit - Benefits the face and nose - Expels wind - Benefits the spine - Treats acute lumbar sprain	- Mental disorders, epilepsy, hysteria, infantile convulsion, coma, apoplexy-faint, trismus, deviation of mouth and eyes, puffiness of face, pain and stiffness of the lower back - Command Point for fainting, collapse. Main point for restoring consciousness, for shock, revival from fainting, weakness, helps patient to awaken, use fingernail in an emergency. - Main point for acute low back sprain, helps relieve pain and restore motion, moves stagnation at the opposite end of the channel. After obtaining the Qi, have patient bend then rotate the waist
