

BLOOD PATTERN IDENTIFICATION

Basytr University

Dr. Yun Xiao

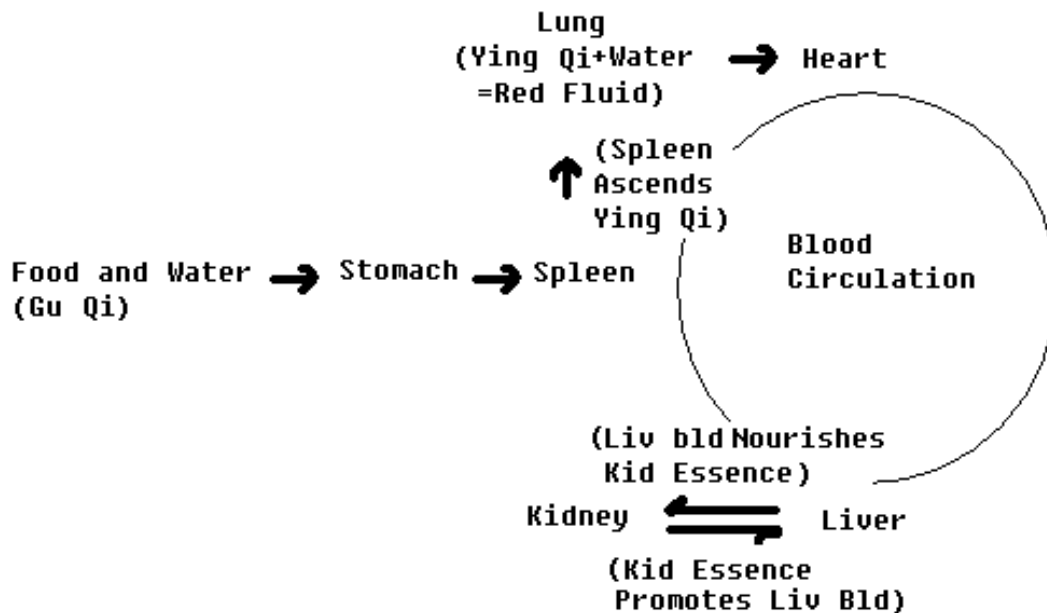

Blood Review

Definition:

Blood is a red liquid circulating in the vessels, and is a vital nutrient substance in the body.

Formation:

1. Ying Qi (nutrient Qi) - Spleen
2. The body fluid - Lung
3. The essence - Kidney

Function:

1. Blood nourishes and moistens the various tissues and organs of the body.
2. Blood is the material foundation for human mental activities.

Circulation:

1. The heart dominates the blood and vessels.
2. The spleen controls blood and prevents extravasation.
3. The liver stores blood and regulates its volume.

1. Blood Deficiency

Definition:

Blood deficiency occurs when there is insufficient blood to nourish zang fu organ.

Etiology:

It often due to congenital insufficiency, deficiency of spleen and stomach, acute or chronic hemorrhages, prolonged diseases, over thinking, blood stagnation, intestinal parasites.

Clinical Manifestation:

sallow complexion or pale with no shining complexion pale lips
pale tongue
pale conjunctivas
pale nails

Tongue and Pulse:

Pale tongue body with white coating
Thready and weakness

palpitations insomnia
more dreams
poor memory

dizziness blurring of vision
bird blind
spasm of tendons and muscles
numbness of extremities tremor of limbs oligomenorrhea
amenorrhea
light colored menstrual flow

Treatment principle:

Nourishing blood and tonifying qi.

Therapeutics:

Herb:
Angelica

Formula:
Prepared Rehmannia, Angelica, Ligusticum, White Peony.

Acupuncture:

SP 10, UB 17, HT 7/PC 6, LV 8/UB 18.

2. Blood Stagnation

Definition:

This refers to the localized accumulation of blood caused by impaired blood circulation or blood that has leaked out of the vessels (extravasated) and remains trapped in a specific area of the body without being dispersed or expelled promptly.

Etiology:

There are many causes of blood stagnation, such as sprains and contusions, hemorrhage, retardation of Qi circulation leading to retardation of blood circulation, deficiency of Qi causing a weakness in the normal movement of blood, and invasion of the blood system by pathogenic cold or heat.

Clinical Manifestation:

Pricking or cutting pain
fixed pain
which does not like pressure aggravated at night
purplish coloration of local area
mass in the abdomen hemorrhage with dark purple, clotted blood tarry stools
dark complexion,
dry, rough and lusterless skin
purpura in skin
cyanosis in lips and finger nails purplish varix on the abdomen or legs
amenorrhea

Tongue and Pulse:

Dark purple tongue body or purpura on the tongue
Thready and choppy pulse

Treatment Principle:

Circulating blood to hemolizing the stagnation.

Therapeutics:

Herb:
Salvia root

Formula:

Persica seed, carthamus, Ligusticum, Angelica, red peony, raw rehmannia

Acupuncture:

UB 17, Sp 10, Liv 3.

3. Blood Heat

Definition:

Heat in the blood .

Etiology:

this refers to the pattern which results either from endogenous heat in the blood system such as obstruction of liver Qi turning into fire or from invasion of the blood system by exogenous pathogenic heat.

Clinical Manifestation:

hemoptysis hematemesis hematochezia hematuria epistaxis menorrhagia
subcutaneous hemorrhage

Irritability restlessness delirium manic coma afternoon fever
feverish in five centers night sweating
dry throat and mouth

tremors opisthotonos convulsion

Tongue and Pulse:

Deep red tongue with yellow coating or mirror tongue
Wiry and rapid

Treatment Principle:

Cooling blood and clearing heat

Therapeutics:

Herb and Formula:

Red poeny
Rhinoceros horn, Fresh rehmannia, Red poeny, Moutan bark.

Acupuncture:

Bleeding techniques on shixuan

4. Blood Cold

Definition:

Cold in the blood.

Etiology:

This refers to pathogenic cold invades body and accumulates in the local area which make Qi and blood stasis.

Clinical Manifestation:

Pain in the hands and foot which is relieved by warm purplish and cold skin prefer heat to cold lower abdominal pain
oligomenorrhea
dark purple blood flow with clots

Tongue and Pulse:

Dark pale tongue with white coating.
Deep, slow or choppy pulse.

Treatment Principle:

warming the meridians and eliminating the cold

Therapeutics:

Herb and Formula:
Aconite, Cinnamon bark or twig, Dry ginger.

Acupuncture:

Moxibustion techniques on Ren 4, Ren 6, Du 4.